LOSS IS MOUNTING

Drought Slashes Hay Crop In Northeastern States
By 50%

(By International News Service)

Thundershowers were forecast today for the ten drought-stricken northeastern states, but it was feared they would be insufficient to counteract the destruction already suffered by crops and forests.

Each day of continued aridity added thousands of dollars to the loss already recorded throughout the vast drought area through the New England states and New York, New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

The drought has slashed the hay crop in the northeastern states by 50%, it was estimated by Fred K. Sale, secretary of the National Hay Association. An above normal hay crop in the West will alleviate the shortage.

The State Conservation Commission at Albany, N. Y., announced a total of 55 forest fires were now burning in the State of New York.

Harold Critchlow, engineer for the New Jersey State Water Policy Commission, urged prudence in the use of drinking water. Controlled use of drinking water will assure a supply for a month without further rain.

Many communities reported water shortages, some serious enough to affect industrial production.

On thousands of farms in the drought region, the story was the same. Only an immediate and substantial rainfall can save the crops from destruction and the farmers from financial loss.

DIVISION OF CHINESE BOOTY IS A BIG TASK

Chinese Member of Cabinet
Reveals Struggle Chinese
Must Make

TO RETAIN PROPERTY

(Note: This is another article in a series covering the high points of a five-thousand-mile tour of North China under Japanese military occupation made by John Goette for International News Service. This correspondent has seen more occupied territory than has any other occidental.)

By John Goette
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
NANKING, July 27.—(INS)—"The chief task of my Ministry is dividing the booty between Chinese and Japanese. Otherwise absolutely nothing is being done."

This remark was made to me by a Chinese member of the Cabinet of the Reformed Government set up here by the conquering Japanese Army. The official referred to millions of dollars worth of industrial plants and important business enterprises formerly owned and managed by Chinese individuals.

"Unless we Chinese in the new regime put up some struggle, all this property would fall entirely into Japanese hands," explained the Cabinet official.

Asked about the future of the sad muddle which now exists in Chiang Kai-shek's former capital, this Chinese official replied:

"The Japanese are hopelessly divided among themselves. It might be said that there are so many plans projected that there is none for the future."

However, for the present, Nanking's Japanese overlords spare no pains to make the American and European consular representatives feel their wrath.

Edmund Clubb, in charge of the American Embassy as the door sign still designates the former headquarters of Nelson T. Johnson, American Ambassador to China, told me that he

Put More Clothes On, Boys!

(By "The Stroller")
Has modesty entirely disappeared among the younger generation? That is the question many of the older residents are asking.

This is the bathing season and many of the younger generation of Bristol residents thoroughly enjoy taking a dip in the Delaware river. To this they are welcome, but they should certainly cover up more of their anatomy.

The exposure is not confined to those of the female sex but the males are in many instances the greater offenders. The male bathers parade up and down our streets with scarcely enough clothing to keep them out of the nudist class.

It is regrettable indeed that these young men do not have more sense of common decency. If they do not have such a sense of decency they should be taught it.

Whether these young members of the sterner sex labor under the impression that they are young Adonises and want to exhibit their attractions is not known. But if they could get a glimpse of the impression they leave with others, going about as they do, with scarcely any clothes on, it is safe to say that they would quickly don more wearing apparel.

Put the clothes on, boys, you are entirely out of order!

What we say about the boys can also be a word of advice to the girls.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Arthur T. Reese, head of the Doylestown Summer school, announced that the Summer school sessions will close today, when examinations will be given.

The examinations, which will be given in every subject, will begin at 8:30 o'clock. The examinations will last two hours and cover three periods.

In order that parents and pupils will not deluge the school office or Supervising Principal J. Leonard Halderman with inquiries as to whether the pupils passed in their various subjects, Mr. Reese explained that reports will be mailed to the parents.

The pupils will receive reports within a week or ten days and they should not communicate with the clerical workers in the supervising principal's office who will not be able to furnish the information, said Mr. Reese.

Speaking of the enrollment of 125 pupils, who attended Summer school, Mr. Reese, who is a member of the high school faculty, said he regarded the work done by the pupils as satisfactory.

At the last meeting of the school board held on the first Monday in July, Supervising Principal Halderman reported an enrollment of 118 or 120 pupils, but Mr. Reese explained that a few additional boys and girls have been enrolled since that date.

A meeting of the Newtown W. C. T. U. was held a few days ago with Mrs. Emma W. Wright as hostess and with 14 members present. Mrs. Mary Gallagher conducted the devotional services. Election resulted in the present officers being renominated as follows: President, Mrs. Elsie Nixon; vice-president, Mrs. Alice Buckman; secretary, Mrs. Harry Horn, and treasurer, Mrs. Martha Goodnoe.

Mrs. Maude R. Stuckert and Mrs. C. E. Braston were appointed to audit the treasurer's account and to report at the next meeting.

Mrs. Maude Stuckert gave a very interesting talk and conducted a quiz on "Know Your Rights." The questions related to the Bill of Rights.

Mrs. Elsie Nixon gave a very comprehensive report of the five-state conference held recently at Ocean Grove, N. J. This group is composed of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. The presidents of all the state unions and over 600 delegates were present.

Speakers included the presidents and Mrs. Dogenbach, president of the Philadelphia County W. C. T. U., who spoke on Sabbath observance. Other speakers were Mrs. Mabel Gilbert, Mrs. Alvin Sherbine, state director of adult education, and Mrs. W. R. Ridginton, editor of the State Bulletin.

The conference closed with a beautiful service.

The Truck at Newportville

THIEF BROKE WINDOW

A truck containing old tires was found at Newportville this morning at about 8:30 and after investigation by Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo it was found that the truck and tires belonged to the V & D Tire Company of Bristol.

Japan Regrets Denunciation

Tokyo, July 27.—The Japanese government today termed "regrettable" President Roosevelt's denunciation of the Japanese-American treaty, but at the same time charged that "political rather than economic motives" were responsible.

The official Japanese news agency Domei broadcast an authoritative release, attacking the American stand, and predicting that from an economic point of view it would ultimately harm the United States more than Japan.

The Tokyo stock market, however, has slumped, with issues declining shortly after a few stocks gained.

Urging the Japanese government to deal with the new "situation" in an appropriate manner, Domei said:

"America's action has failed to stop Japan, which has already completed full preparation to deal with all possible emergencies. The government is grimly determined to overcome any new difficulties in any further foreign intervention in the construction of a new part in eastern Asia."

"It is stated that abrogation of the treaty is intended as an American economic thrust at Japan. However, the Washington government is not in a position to enforce drastic restriction of Japanese imports. According to the Chugai Sharyo, leading commercial daily in Tokyo, abrogation of the treaty will hit America harder than it will Japan."

Washington, July 26. A TRENCHANT point in connection with the German and Russian propaganda, with which this country is pretty thoroughly drenched, is made by the Virginia weekly, the Bath County Enterprise, in a column written by Mr. Fay Ingalls.

A more general recognition of its soundness would promote the national health.

ON THE other hand, the propaganda that comes from Moscow and the activities of the Communists' representatives here, which are widespread, constant and effective, now appear to be received with a curious lack of indignation.

This change began about three years ago and has been so gradual that in the main it has escaped comment. So far as the two nations are concerned, the doctrines and policies of one hardly are more offensive to us than those of the other. They are equally threatening to democratic ideals.

BUCKS 40 'N' 8 BUILDS A HUGE LOCOMOTIVE

Will Take 24-Foot Apparatus
To The State Convention
Next Month

FRIENDS AID IN WORK

When Bucks Volture, No. 929, La Societe Des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux members "steam" into Williamsport on August 9th for the state convention in their "locomotive," they will just about burst with pride.

The pride will be well deserved, for the 40 'n' 8 from this section has worked day and night since the first of April to complete the 24-foot engine, which those who have beheld it declare a "beauty."

One of the finest "locomotives" in the United States, practically every piece of equipment, and every bit of workmanship was donated. The sum total of funds expended amounts to but $150, and this includes a complete set of tires and the insurance on the machine.

The whistle which will herald their arrival in Williamsport at the time of the 40 'n' 8 and the American Legion Convention of the State Department, is from a real steam engine; the shiny bell was the gift of America Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, No. 2, Bristol, which took the bell from an ancient hand apparatus; and the searchlight which will play its beam into the heavens came from the United States Navy Yard at Philadelphia, and formerly graced the U. S. S. "Bagaducel."

The searchlight is a 12-inch blinker type, and this as well as a small cannon which will shoot 12-gauge shot-gun shells, will be mounted on the cab.

The "locomotive" is 24 feet long, and the top of the cab is about 11 feet from the ground, the huge boiler of the "locomotive" is about six feet high. It is 6½ feet wide. Fifteen men can be accommodated, and when the "locomotive" leaves Bristol on Saturday, July 29th, for Peekasee for final touches and change to balloon tires, the car will be full of men in their Volture uniforms of green and black smocks and caps.

No blue-prints were used, and in lieu of any plans the Volture members and their many friends who donated services, got suggestions from pictures of similar engines owned by other Voltures. "We feel well repaid for our time and effort, and we have no reason to be ashamed of the result," said one of the 40 'n' 8 men today as he proudly looked over his work. The "locomotive" was built at the rear of the home of Fred Bryner, Bristol Pike, Edgely, a member of 929.

The idea was first conceived in 1934, and a large bell secured from a railroad company. The bell, the men decided, was too large, and plans did not get underway until 1937 when another bell was secured from the local fire company. Last September the members from this lower portion of the county travelled to Peekasee and received from one of their members, George Spielman, a truck. The machine was taken to a nearby school

A TUNNEL FOR A BRIDGE

Not so long ago the only important considerations in connection with a proposed bridge joining the Battery with Brooklyn would have been its necessity, feasibility, and cost. Just to show how times change, all three of these were relegated to subordinate positions when the project was brought up.

For the United States, for all its public calm, is growing war-minded officially. The War Department rejected the plan as a menace to New York City's harbor defense. Not only might such a bridge impede our own maneuvers but also it would offer a nice target for an enemy air fleet. If it were struck, New York would suddenly find itself without a transportation service on which, by that time, it would have come to rely.

Suddenly deprived of its bright dream, New York turns to another expedient. Already designs for a vehicular tunnel to take the place of the bridge are being discussed. Funds might be obtained under the federal government's lending program to finance the structure estimated to cost from a low of $60,000,000 to a high of $86,000,000. Under the lower figure, the tunnel could be self-supporting, it is believed.

The higher estimate is that of Park Commissioner Robert Moses. Moses doesn't like the idea at all, having been sponsor of the bridge project. He argues that at that figure the tunnel could not support itself by tolls from users.

So New York has another controversy on its hands. Before accusing it of prodigally spending funds, however, one must remember how desperately important the problem of transportation is to the metropolis. To keep pace with the growing need, drastic measures have to be taken. About the only room for argument hinges on just what those measures should be.

ONE FOR THE SHERIFFS

Our applause is as enthusiastic for the resourceful sheriff who "goes his man" as for the Federal G-Men who get theirs.

Sheriff Champ Crawford's was a real idea, after he recognized the fugitive desperado, Jack Russell and the latter's stolen auto, in an auto camp at Ozark, Franklin County, Arkansas. An arrest being attempted in any usual way, a battle was certain with a man probably guilty of a killing, certainly guilty of three kidnappings, since his escape from an Oklahoma prison.

Crawford and a constable, dressed suitably and with fishing rods came along the creek by the camp as though they were fishing. Seeing their garb and rods, Russell answered their call unsuspecting and faced, on coming out of his cabin, not the fishing rods but guns. Marched off to jail, he perhaps will go to the electric chair in Illinois. It's a case of a ruse that would do very well in a piece of detective fiction.

Actually, this is to be the first real fight between the champ, Louis, and Bob Pastor. The other time, Pastor was on his bicycle.

If any publicity is good publicity Louisiana has no kick coming. As for Michigan, it is doing very well.

Gossips deserve pity. Think of a life so dull and empty that nothing seems interesting except other people's business.

She quieted at once.

"Come into the office. I want a few words with you—and no scenes."

She rose wearily, and followed the night-club owner, to Toni's immense relief.

The evening had not yet started. Toni had been dining early. Presently Lola returned.

A different Lola. Normal. Apologetic. Apparently, thought Toni, Niklas had sent her to make amends for her behavior.

"I say, kid, will you be decent enough to forget my little outburst? I lied to you when I said I never drink anything. Drinking's been my main trouble. I was on an alcoholic cure in the sanitarium, and the old craving fairly hit me tonight."

"Don't apologize, Lola. I'm sorry. But you look lots better."

"I'll sit down. Niklas gave me something to calm me. Bromide," she added, watching Toni keenly.

"That's fine."

There was color in Lola's thin cheeks. The tense look had gone.

"When I have the craving, I certainly do spill the silliest things. They don't make sense! Drink's a terrible thing, Antoinette! Don't ever give way to it!"

Toni smiled kindly. "That's an easy promise to make."

"You surely were born under a lucky star."

"I've had my troubles, Lola. Plenty of them. But drinking has never been one of them, though I'm no better than you or anybody else."

Lola put her thin elbows on the table and scrutinized the other girl.

"Niklas seems to think the world and all of you. In this game, you can go a very long way. He can make you or break you. That's his reputation. He makes you—and he breaks me." She drew a sobbing breath. "Isn't life funny?"

"You sure did land on your feet, kid!" said Cassie Doyle.

This kind-hearted chorus girl who had got Toni into her first show on Broadway had, unexpectedly and disconcertingly, come to visit her at her new apartment.

Not that Toni was ungrateful to Cassie. Or snobbish.

But the memory of Cassie's jealous parting with her—the accusations she had made against her—were still fresh in her mind. Cassie had believed that tale of Herman's, about Toni making a play for him, at the same time discrediting Toni's account of the shady fur transaction.

It was true that Toni, desperate for a job, had pretended to know Cassie's mother, and by this ruse been presented by Cassie to Fatty Gushkin.

But, soon after, Toni had confessed her subterfuge to Cassie, when she was sharing the latter's tiny apartment.

Laughing it off as clever, Cassie had later brought it up as a weapon for disbelieving Toni when it was a case of Toni against Herman.

"Is it curiosity or trouble,"

RECIPES: Those Which Interest Women

Tasty Dishes Are Suggested Which Will Appeal To All

"The world is so full of a number of things," especially in Summer-time, that instead of being "happy as kings," we are more apt to be busy as bees. What with the garden to weed, the remnants of house-cleaning to look after and the sewing to finish, just where are we going to get the time to cook meals for the family? With all the energy we burn up, dashing from one thing to another, good nourishing food is as essential now as at any other time of the year.

The homemaker who is onto her job meets the situation by having at her fingers' tips, so to speak, a number of satisfying meals which take very little preparation. Either they are quickly cooked dishes, or—and this may seem contradictory—they can be cooked slowly and for a long time. In that case, almost the entire dinner is cooked in one dish, and it requires little watching. It may be brought to the table in the dish in which it is cooked.

Here are main dishes for easy meals, suggested by Inez S. Willson, home economist.

Beef Birds and Carrots

- 2 pounds round steak
- 6 small carrots
- 1 cup bread crumbs, sifted
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons butter

Salt and pepper

Have round steak cut thin in pieces suitable for individual servings. Season with salt and pepper. Place a carrot in each piece and roll. Fasten securely with string or toothpicks. Roll in egg beaten with milk and fine bread crumbs. Brown in butter. When nicely browned add 1 cup water and cook in slow oven until rolls are done, about one hour and a half.

Place potatoes in the oven to bake. Serve with melted butter and a dash of paprika.

A combination fresh vegetable salad and an easy dessert of strawberries, or stewed fruits or rhubarb, with bread and beverage completes an easy and appetizing meal.

Another combination which is almost an entire meal in itself is this:

Spanish Lamb Slices

- 6 neck slices of lamb
- 6 slices onion
- 6 rings green pepper
- ¼ cup rice
- 6 slices tomato

Season neck slices and brown in a little lard. Place in a roaster or casserole and on each slice arrange a slice of onion, one of tomato and a pepper ring filled with rice which has been partially cooked. Pour one-half cup water around the meat. Cover and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour.

Pie is at once a seasonal dessert and a year 'round favorite. That, of course, is because there are so many kinds of pies. Rhubarb pie starts off the spring season, with strawberry, blueberry and blackberry pies following in order, and pumpkin and mince bringing the year to a close.

But whatever the kind of pie, one thing is sure. Its crust must be flaky and tender. And another thing which is equally sure, says Inez S. Willson, home economist, is that lard is unexcelled for making pie crust. It is easy to use, fine in flavor, and it combines with the hour in just the right way so that the crust is flaky as well as tender. At the present time, lard is so economical that you can serve pie as often as your family desires it and not feel a bit extravagant.

For best results, one and a half cups flour to one half cup lard should be used for pie crust. Sift the flour, measure and add one teaspoon salt. Cut the lard into the flour until the crumbs are the size of dried peas. Add cold water slowly, using just enough to make the dough hold together. Four to six tablespoons should be enough. Roll to one eighth inch thickness and line the pie pan. Place the filling and upper crust in place if this is a two-crust pie, and bake in a hot oven.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY

THE first corn-on-the-cob is in most families the food event of the summer. Sweet corn is now available at reasonable cost. Market early for it and refrigerate it to retain its sweetness for evening dinner. Summer squash makes a good companion vegetable. Both cucumbers and tomatoes are plentiful and cheap.

A long list of summer fruits including melons, grapes, berries, apples, peaches, plums and pears are in market and reasonably priced.

Meat prices are generally lower, particularly pork and beef, and lamb to a lesser degree. Poultry of all kinds continues to be inexpensive. Fine quality eggs are cheap for the season. Mackerel continues to be scarce.

and arrange on a platter with glazed cinnamon apples.

To prepare the apples, make a syrup of sugar, red cinnamon candies and water. Cook the apples slowly in syrup until they are a bright red and tender but not soft.

Stuffed Pork Chops

- 6 pork chops, 1 inch thick
- ½ cup uncooked rice
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 small onion, grated
- Salt and pepper.

Have pocket cut in chops next to the bone. Combine rice, green pepper, onion, salt and pepper. Place tablespoonful in each pocket. Brown in hot lard. Add one-half cup water, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour.

Great things are being accomplished by the boys and girls who make up the Baby Beef Clubs of rural Pennsylvania. This was shown when the annual show of the Garden Spot Baby Beef Club in the Union Stock Yards, Lancaster, was climaxed by a most successful sale of the fine baby steers which had been exhibited by over 40 members. More and more each year prominent Meat Buyers are showing a keen interest in the products, the fine young steers, which these fine young people of Pennsylvania Farms bring to the show. A vast throng of boys and girls and their friends assembled under the tent to watch and listen to the spirited bidding which continued until the sale was completed.

Very active among the bidders was the American Stores Company which continually cooperates with the people of the farms in marketing their products. In sixteen cases American Stores was the successful bidder, and the beef of the "prize" young steers purchased will shortly be on sale in Asco Meat Departments. Jesse M. Dietz, who heads the meat buying department for American Stores, William Stratton, beef buyer, as well as Mr. William Park, president, were all present at the sale, which shows the keen interest which this important chain store is taking in this important work.

It goes without saying that the success of the Baby Beef Clubs in Pennsylvania, or anywhere in fact, depends upon the interest which such organizations as American Stores take in purchasing their products.

BRISTOL THEATRE

When Samuel Goldwyn announced that he would make into a motion picture, "Wuthering Heights," to star Merle Oberon as Cathy and Laurence Olivier as Heathcliff, lovers of this poignantly dramatic and stirringly romantic novel beamed at the new immortalization which their literary idol, Miss Bronte, would receive in the additional medium of the screen. The picture, recently completed and hailed at its Hollywood preview as Mr. Goldwyn's finest achievement, is showing at the Bristol Theatre today through Ritz.

DI RENZO TEN EDGES OUT SUPERIOR ZINC

In a community softball tilt the DiRenzo ten edged out the Superior Zinc team. It all came in the big third inning when the DiRenzo team showed a grand exhibition of clubbing and tallied 6 runs. Until this inning the Zinc team had been ahead and had DiRenzo's 10 well under control. This game puts DiRenzo's well in third place.

For the winners it was "Leddie" Caro who besides getting himself two hits for two official times at bat also played a very good defensive game.

Florito ad Barbetta also showed the crowd some nice fielding plays for the winners.

For the losers Choma did some nice work by smacking out a home run and a single to four trips to the dish.

BLACK'S TIGERS TO BATTLE LANDRETHS

In a game this evening, at 6:15, at Landreth Hall Park, Black's Tigers will oppose the Landreth Seeds.

This club was formerly called Fleischer's All-Stars, and was the last club to hand the Landreth Seeds a defeat when they played on June 14th at Fleischer Park, 25th and Reed streets, Philadelphia.

Black's Tigers are managed by Eddie Black, the well-known South Philadelphia sportsman, who formerly played second base with the old Central High School team when Roy Mack, now vice-president of the A's, was playing with that school.

The players form one of the best combinations in the South Philadelphia area and have beaten such well-known clubs this year as the House of David, South Phillies, Gladwynne, of the main line league, Buck La's Hawaiians, Philadelphia Italians, Philadelphia Police, etc. Several of the Tigers (formerly Fleischer's All-Stars) have played in the Eastern Shore League.

Since Landreth played Black's club they have not lost a game in 18 starts, having three wins, two ties and now 13 straight victories. So they will be after the 14th straight, Thursday.

Tom Sloane will be on the mound, with Joe Oakes behind the plate. This was the combination which beat the "Farmers" in Philadelphia, 5-1. Manager Landreth will probably send Howard Black to the hill, with Jack Broderick behind the plate.

This should be a fine game, so no doubt a good crowd will be on hand.

DIAMOND TEAM STOPS HALL ALUMINUM NINE

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Umpire, Kervick; Scorer, Tomlinson
After winning nine straight, the Hall Aluminum nine met their Waterloo last evening on the Cornwells field when they were stopped by the league-leading Diamond team, 5-3, in a tilt packed with thrills from start to finish.

The winning punch of the game was actually supplied by Tony Angelo, hurler catcher for the league leaders. With Whyno on base as the result of an error in the fifth, Angelo connected with one of Gallagher's fast balls and drove it high into deep right for three bases, scoring Whyno. Angelo scored a month later on a base knock by Aella.

Angelo's hit was a long one but both Mike DeRisi and Reds Gallagher had further ones. DeRisi's blow came with the bags bare in the fourth and was a home run as was the one socked by Gallagher in the sixth with Johnny Dougherty on base. It was DeRisi's third home run of the campaign.

The contest was a hurling match between Ad Helveston and Bill Gallagher. Gallagher was found for nine hits while Helveston and Bill Gallagher. Gallagher was found for nine hits while Helveston was touched for seven. However, Helveston received better support than Gallagher, three errors by Hall players allowing three of the five runs. Helveston had six strikeouts while Gallagher whiffed 5.

In the final frame, the Diamond pitcher fanned the side.

The defeat shoved the Hall team back into third place and tightened the fight for the final four clubs in the circuit. Diamond has practically clinched the championship.

MORRISVILLE LEGION NINE WINS LEAGUE HONORS

Morrisville's Willet C. Sanford Post, No. 433, Juniors, behind the great hurling of Bill Wiggins, defeated Doylestown at the latter's field, Tuesday night, by a 12 to 0 count.

The victory, although not realized at the time, meant the Bucks County Junior Legion championship for the Morrisville outfit, as Perkase, tied with the Sanford aggregation for the loop top, was beaten Tuesday night by New Hope, 5 to 3.

The championship was the first ever captured by the Morrisville post, and qualifies them for the State championships. Their opponent, probably tomorrow evening, will be the winner of the Montgomery county title.

In winning, Tuesday night, the Morrisville lads were never pushed after getting five runs in the second frame. Kenny Cook and Wiggins each got two-base hits to lead the winning attack. Doylestown only got three blows.

Truck Loaded With Tires Stolen From Warehouse

This morning at five o'clock, Francis Hampton discovered the truck and its contents missing. It was reported immediately to the police.

Entrance was gained to the warehouse by pulling off a wire screen from one of the windows, breaking the glass and then unlatching the window. An attempt had been made to break through the wooden floor from the basement beneath and some of the floor boards were broken.

The thief, as he stepped through the window, put his foot into a pail of oil drawings.

Lawrence Loses Out To Allen In Tennis Tilt

"Herb" Lawrence, Bristol's outstanding racket wielder, lost to Allen, the defending champion, Lawrence, bowing with scores of 6-3, 5-7, and 6-1, at Trenton, N. J., last night. Allen and Lawrence provided most of the evening's excitement. The Princetonian dominated play in the first set.

The defending champion, starting slowly, erred frequently off forehand and backhand. Allen remained back court and outlasted "Herb" in most of the baseline duels.

UNIQUE NAME

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—(INS)—St. Peter was on the police blotter today at the Walla Walla city jail. When arraigned for vagrancy before T. M. McKinney, the startled police judge asked: "Is that your true name?" It was, but Saint Peter admitted that he was a little off his course. He told the court he was from Mexico and needed a haircut but didn't have enough money to pay the barber.

THREE NEW INDUSTRIES

TRENTON—(INS)—Since January 633 new industries have started operations in New Jersey, according to the

New Jersey Council, which lists among the state's economic advantages 500 miles of deep-sea waterways, 17,000 miles of improved highways, four major airlines and 20,000,000 consumers having 23 per cent of the nation's buying power.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly
(Famous Hollywood Style Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—There are fashion facts for summer and fashion forecasts for fall in the pictures currently before the Hollywood cameras. At the moment I am doing ballerina dresses for Zorina to wear in the Warner Bros. film, "On Your Toes." Whereas there is nothing startlingly new about this full, calf-length skirt, it is being used in two new ways this summer. As a beach costume it is made of gay muslin and topped by fitted, strapless bodice. As a late afternoon costume it is worked out in crisp sheers and is gradually taking the place of the floor-length formal gown for this time of day.

Madeleine Carroll has a summer costume suggested in a new picture. It is of white sheer, is intricately draped and is originally detailed with insertions of white lace in the slight train and ruffles at the neckline. Lya Lys has an equally good hostess suggestion for fall in a pajama outfit. Milo Anderson has designed for her to wear in "The Return of Dr. X." This combines gold cloth Turkish trousers, a pale turquoise chiffon blouse, and a wide jeweled turquoise belt.

It is interesting to note how most of the Hollywood designers discovered almost simultaneously the splendid photographic possibilities of fine checked wool. If the screen influences fashion at all this should be one of the important fabrics for fall.

Howard Shoup uses a small black and white wool check for a suit. Brenda Marshall wears in "Career Man." The suit has a slim skirt and long, moulded jacket, and is accompanied by a visor beret made of the same material.

Judith Barrett wears a brown and white shepherd's checked wool suit, styled with double-breasted jacket and accented with a white crepe scarf, white chamol gloves and other accessories in nut brown in another picture.

Paulette Goddard, after testing in 40 different dresses for her current film finally won her director's approval with a wool dress finely checked in black and white. It is simply made with flared skirt and is belted in black patent leather.

TIME AT HAND FOR PREPARING CLOTHES OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

By Miss Edna Stephany
(Home Economics Representative)
July and August may be the vacation months, but many mothers are looking ahead to the first of September when their small sons and daughters will be marching off to school. What will they wear on this memorable occasion?

Cotton fabrics are the answer to the need for frequent trips to the wash tub. Gingham, printed percale, broadcloth, and pique are the most popular cottons for school dresses. Soft smooth finishes are best. Heavy stiff fabrics are clumsy and warm. However, there are apt to be some warm days in September. Why not one dark dimity dress?

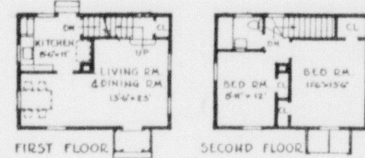

The spun rayon fabrics are growing in popularity because they are soft and comfortable, they are washable and they are made in all sorts of fascinating colors and prints. Some have the appearance of wool, and when the warmth of wool is not a factor, these will make very attractive, washable dresses for late fall or winter.

MAXIMUM SPACE FOR MINIMUM COST

THIS house is noteworthy for its excellent room arrangement giving a maximum amount of space at the lowest possible cost.

On the first floor, of this inexpensive house, there is a combination living and dining room so planned that the dining end is adjacent to the kitchen, making service facilities comparatively simple. Both bedrooms being upstairs, the entire first floor may be given over to use during waking hours. Plenty of storage space is provided and two closets are available for the larger bedroom. The only ornamental elaboration on this dignified exterior is that about the entrance.

For boys' suits, broadcloth or cotton suiting is a good choice. Even small boys and girls nowadays like sweaters, and the cotton knit suits are popular and easily washed.

Good workmanship is a "must" for children's clothes; it adds to both the quality and the durability. Remember all the washings and ironings they must withstand. For that same reason look for fabrics that are color-fast and as fully pre-shrunk as it is possible to get them. Buy the best quality of fabric you can afford so the garments will not need frequent replacing.

Even small boys and girls have their color preferences. Encourage a wholesome pride in appearance by considering this. One reason for the general unpopularity of made-overs, is that the color or material of an adult's garment is so often unsuitable for a child.

Gay colors are cheery and they are also more easily seen by the passing motorist. If your children walk to school or play beside the road, consider this.

If you buy your children's school clothes, you will find it necessary to carry a list of measurements with your shopping list. There is no standardization of children's measurements. By next fall this may possibly be remedied, for the Bureau of Home Economics has just completed a study of children's body measurements, which it is hoped, will serve as the basis for standardized sizes in making children's garments in the future.
